

Five Reasons to Use MDReview

- 1. Internal expertise is lacking – Your organization might lack the experience to complete a review. MDReview offers an extensive network of board-certified and actively practicing physicians in every specialty.
- 2. Internal process is exhausted – If you have reached an impasse internally, MDReview's high-caliber physician reviewers follow a fair and objective process to ensure you receive a superior review.
- 3. New privileges are required – MDReview understands that you might need support for credentialing and privileging and can effectively assist with the increasing demand to credential for new technologies and procedures.
- 4. Political issues are looming - MDReview is aware of the gravity of each case and attuned to the potential for personal and professional consequences for everyone involved. Each report is balanced, fair, and unbiased.
- 5. Medical necessity is questioned - When there is a question of appropriateness, MDReview's physician reviewers can assess whether patient records contain appropriate rationale for the care provided and determine whether the care was medically necessary.
